Welcome to your new life in America!

Dear Student

You are about to begin a great adventure — exploring life in an American community, studying in a U.S. high school and becoming a member of a new family.

It takes courage to leave home and study in another country. The experience of studying abroad is not always fun; learning a new language and fitting into a new culture can be difficult. But if you take the extra steps to participate fully in program activities, meet new people, get involved at school and speak English, we promise you will grow in knowledge and maturity.

The purpose of this handbook is to help you begin this adventure and give you an idea of what to expect from the U.S. culture and your international program. The handbook outlines important rules and guidelines that are your responsibility to follow while staying with your host family and attending school. Keep this handbook throughout your stay in the U.S.; you will find it a handy reference whenever you have a question. If you have a question that is not addressed in the handbook, please ask your Homestay Coordinator or your host family.

Remember... you are not alone. Twinn Palms is here to help you resolve problems and make the most of your experience in the U.S. By following the rules and participating in family, school and community activities, you will gain skills that will enrich your life and change you forever.

Best wishes for a great year!

Host Family / Student Expectations

Host family

Student

House Rules

- Clarify your expectations early on.
- If you have some specific rules (for example, no television after 10pm or no visitors after 7pm) then consider putting these rules in writing.
- Be sure students understand any specific rules or preferences, or normally "unspoken" rules in your home. (For example, if a certain chair is reserved for a certain family member.)
- If possible, explain rationale for rules.

Food / Meals

- Tell student what time you expect them for meals.
- Provide breakfast, lunch, dinner, and snacks.
- Provide a variety of foods including adequate proteins, fruits and vegetables.
- Ask if the student has serious dislikes or preferences.
- Be prepared to spend a minimum of 50% of monthly fees on food.
- If you elect to eat one of the three meals in a restaurant, you should pay for the student's meal.

Respect

- Respect cultural or religious differences.
- Respect student's privacy in their room.
- Listen to and ask about additional needs.
- Be truthful. Express concerns or rules in a respectful manner.

Family Life

- Treat the student as a member of the family, not as a guest.
- Treat them as you would wish your own children to be treated in another country.
- Include the student in family activities where you would ordinarily include your own children.

House Rules

- Each family may have different house rules. Your family should explain these to you.
- You should talk about the house rules with your host family.
- Be sure to understand and respect their expectations.
- If you are not sure what to do, ask questions.

Food / Meals

- Be on time for family meals.
- If you will be late or absent, phone your family in advance.
- If you have allergies or serious dislikes, tell your family.
- Offer to help with small tasks such as setting the table or clean up.

Respect

- Respect the house rules.
- Respect cultural or religious differences.
- Be truthful. Express concerns or needs in a respectful way.

Family Life

- Talk to your family about problems or needs.

Host family

Student

Bedroom

- Provide a comfortable, private room with a bed (sheets, blankets, and pillow), closet, dresser / shelves, desk, chair, lamp.
- Respect the privacy of the student's bedroom.
- Unless there is an emergency, permission to enter a student's should be requested.

Household Chores

- As a member of the family, students should be expected to help with light household chores such as setting or clearing the table.
- If students are interested, they may be encouraged to help with other light chores.
- Students should not be expected to babysit for or engage in heavy cleaning or housework.

Language Practice

- The purpose of placing international students in American homes is for them to practice English.
- Host families can help by conversing with students on a number of topics and helping them build their vocabulary, or by explaining movies, television or other contexts.
- Be patient and try to remember that lower level English students may need time and assistance to learn basic words and structures.

Cultural Exchange

- As a host family you are the first representative of American culture.
- Students will perceive American customs through your examples.
- As you share your family customs, you may also want to explain other traditions you are aware of.
- It is also useful to ask students how things are done in their culture in order to allow them to express their experience with cultural difference.

Bedroom

- Students should keep their bedroom clean and wash bedding as needed.
- Your host parents are not expected to clean your bedroom.

Household Chores

- As a member of the family, you should help with the general household work such as you can offer to clear or set the table
- If you are interested, you could help with meal preparation, taking out the garbage or sweeping the floor.
- You may help with the children by reading to them or playing with them; however, you should not be expected to babysit.

Language Practice

- In order to improve your English, you must practice.
- Your homestay is an excellent place to practice English.
- Your host family can help you understand how English is spoken in everyday situations and can explain things you don't understand.

Cultural Exchange

- Many host families choose to host international students as a way to exchange culture.
- They want to learn about your country and culture.
- When you experience real differences between American culture and your own, it may be interesting to share those differences with your American hosts.
- Sharing differences may also help them understand what you are experiencing in America.

American Families

There are many different kinds of American families. There probably isn't a "typical" American family, and host families can be from a variety of backgrounds. Remember that America is a multicultural society, so although all hosts speak fluent English, their families may be from Europe, Asia, Latin America, Africa or another location. Some host families may have children, others do not. Some possible kinds of host family are:

- Mother, Father, and Children
- Young couples
- Single men or women
- Grandparents
- Retired individuals
- Single mothers and children
- Single fathers and children

American Houses

- Most American houses are made from wood.
- In America, most families live in a house with a private yard or a townhouse, and sometimes in an apartment.
- American houses normally have a kitchen with a cooking area and an eating area (many houses also have a separate dining room used for the evening meal).
- The living room usually has comfortable seats, a television, and stereo.
- There might be a fireplace in the living room.
- Many family houses will have an extra room in the basement for television or games.
- Bedrooms are usually on the top floor or in the lower floor
- In many American homes some bedrooms are in the basement.

Your Bedroom

Your bedroom may be on the top floor or on the lower floor. You will have your own bed in a private room with basic furniture.

- Bed size: you may have a single bed, referred to as a "twin."

- Normally, there are 2 sheets and blankets on your bed.
- Sleep between the 2 sheets.
- When you make your bed, tuck the sheets under the mattress.
- Normally, you should wash your sheets once a week.
- Your room should also have a desk and chair for you to study.
- The lighting should be good for reading and writing.
- You may want to have personal things to make your room more comfortable.
- You are responsible to keep your bedroom clean.

HINT: COMFORT

If something about your room is uncomfortable, you may talk about additional needs with your host family. For example: "The temperature in my room is colder than I am accustomed to. Could you give me an extra blanket?" Or: "The light in my room is not very good for reading. Is there another lamp I could use?"

Meals

- Your host family will provide you with breakfast, a packed lunch to take to school (unless already provided by the school), dinner, and some snacks.
- Meals in America are often casual.
- Meals are usually one plate. There may be less variety than in your culture.
- Once you are settled in your new home, your host family may allow you to prepare your own breakfast and lunch. Dinner will be prepared for you.
- Occasionally, you may want to share your cultural foods with your family.

Breakfast

- Breakfast times vary depending on schedules.
- Often students make their own breakfast.
- Breakfast is usually a simple meal of cereal with milk, toast or fruit.
- On weekends breakfast might be larger with eggs or pancakes.
- Coffee, tea, and juice are common morning drinks.
- In some families people have breakfast together, but in many situations everyone eats their breakfast separately because of work and school schedules.

Lunch

- Lunch is usually around 12 pm, the time is sometimes referred to as "noon".
- Lunch is usually packed to take to school unless the school provides a lunch.
- The most common lunch is a sandwich, fruit, and a drink.
- Sandwiches come in many varieties. Thinly sliced meat, cheese, and vegetables are common fillings.
- Some Americans will pack extra food from their dinner the night before to reheat at school or work.

Medical Insurance

All Twinn Palms international students have medical insurance.

- It is a good idea to provide your homestay parent(s) with a copy of your insurance papers in case of an emergency.

- Twinn Palms currently uses United Healthcare Student Resources and their website is www.uhcsr.com

Personal Items Insurance

You may want to consider having insurance on your personal items. For laptops and computers, you may have them insured by a purchase plan.

Dinner

- The largest meal is usually dinner.
- Some Americans eat dinner earlier than in many countries, usually around 6 pm.
- Most American families try to eat dinner together and talk about their day.
- Pasta, meat, and fish are popular main dishes.
- Potatoes and rice are very common and are cooked in a variety of ways.
- Salads often accompany meals or are eaten before the meal.

Food

- Americans eat many different kinds of fresh fruit and vegetables.
- Meat and potatoes are common items.
- You may find American food to be "heavy" or "greasy" at first.
- Try to balance cooked meals with fresh fruit and vegetables for snacks.
- If you have any food allergies, you should tell your homestay family.

HINT: FOOD PREFERENCES

If there are foods you really dislike, or foods you really want, you should talk to your homestay family about your preferences. They will try to accommodate your preferences. For example: "At home I eat rice for breakfast. Would it be possible for me to cook rice in the mornings?" Or: "I do not eat pork. Would it be possible for me to have something different?"

Transportation

Your homestay family will help you understand where to get a bus to and from the school if one is to be taken by the student. They can also help you understand the bus schedule.

- Your homestay family will not allow you to use their car because of insurance complications.
- Sometimes your homestay parents may drive you to a location; however this is a courtesy, not a responsibility. The homestay parent's responsibility in transportation is to the school for regular school work and activities that count toward your curriculum.
- Extracurricular activities, such as going to the mall or out with friends must be arranged with the host family in advance.
- No student is allowed to travel outside the city or state without an adult.

When you arrive in America

- Meeting your host family for the first time may feel strange.
- Try to relax and get to know them.
- The first few days will be a time of adjustment for you and your family.
- Learn their names and ask some questions about their interests and lifestyle.
- You may also want to ask specific questions about the house and house rules.

HOUSE RULES

In the first week at your new home you will have many questions. Each family may have different rules or schedules, so you will need to ask questions to understand what your host family expects. Below is a list of questions you may want to ask your host family as you learn about the home and their expectations.

HINT: LATE NIGHT ACTIVITY

- It is normal for students to be awake when the family is asleep. You might want to study, email, or telephone your family late at night. Typically, an American student curfew is between 9:30pm and 10pm.
- Remember to be quiet and to ask your family if your late night activity disturbs their sleep.

- > Are there times when I should not use the TV or DVD?
- > Is there a stereo or radio to listen to music or practice my listening skills?
- > What time is appropriate to shut down all devices?

Cigarettes and Alcohol

Twinn Palms does not allow their students to use tobacco or alcohol. Any student caught using these substances faces dismissal from the program. Being dismissed from the program may incur a liability with tuition on behalf of the student. There will no refunds to students or their families if the student is dismissed from the program based on this policy.

Housework (Chores)

Your host family expects you to behave as a member of the family. American families usually share household work regardless of gender. Your host family will appreciate it if you offer to help with general chores such as:

- Set or clear the table
- Wash dishes or tidy the kitchen
- Tidy the bathroom after each use
- Pick up your personal items and keep them in your bedroom

If you have time or interest, you could also offer to:

- Help prepare meals
- Assist with recycling or other chores
- Play with children

Your host family should not expect you to:

- Babysit
- Do household cleaning
- Work in the yard or garden

You should never agree to do extra work in exchange for money. This could be considered illegal work and cause problems with your study visa.

Celebrations

- Try to enjoy celebrations and learn about American lifestyle and values.
- Ask questions and learn if the traditions in your family are the same for all Americans or specific for your family and their background.
- Share the special celebrations from your culture.

Religion

Your host family may or may not be religious. Many different religions are practiced in the USA. Americans are free to choose their own form of spiritual practice. Some American families go to church or worship services weekly, other families only attend during religious holidays, and others do not practice religion.

It is important for both you and your host family to respect religious differences.

- If you want to practice your religion, your host family should not interfere.
- If you practice religion at home, then you will need to talk to them about when and where it would be appropriate.
- If you use candles or incense in your practice, ask your family if this is OK. They might worry about a fire.
- If your host family invites you to attend their worship service, you may choose to accept or politely decline.
- If you chose to attend a worship service as part of your cultural education, you should not feel that it is necessary to continue to attend.
- You should never participate in any religious worship that makes you feel uncomfortable.

Daily Life in the USA

EVERYDAY SITUATIONS

Greetings

- "Good morning" is said when you first see someone in the morning.
- "Good night" is said when you are going to bed.
- "Hi" or "Hello" are used at other times of the day.
- "How are you?" or "How are you doing?" is often used as part of a greeting; most people simply reply "Fine, thanks."
- Americans often ask, "How is it going?" (Which sounds like "Howzit goin?") This is also a greeting. You can reply, "Good, thanks." Or "Fine, thanks."

Eating

- If your hosts offer you more food and you say "no thanks," they may not offer a second time.
- If you want more food, you should accept the first offer or ask "May I please have some more _____?"

HINT: If you are hungry it is polite to ask for more food, if you know there is more available. "If there is any more rice, I would love to have some more." Or, "Is there any more soup? I am really hungry today."

If you do not enjoy a particular dish, but would like more to eat, you can say, "Thank you for preparing this dish, but I don't really enjoy potatoes. Could I have more salad instead?"

Table Manners

Most meals are eaten with a knife, fork, or spoon. It is acceptable to use your hands for certain items such as:

- Sandwiches
- Hot dogs or hamburgers
- Pizza
- Toast
- Tacos
- Chicken wings or drumsticks
- Corn on the cob
- Fruit
- Foods served with dips (chips, raw vegetable sticks, bread)

Never dip a second time once the food has touched your mouth.

It is considered polite to...

- Chew with your mouth closed.
- Talk without food in your mouth.
- Not use your fingers to push food onto your spoon or fork
- Keep your knife away from your mouth
- Eat quietly without slurping
- Pick food out of your teeth in private (not at the table)
- Ask for items to be passed to you. For example: "Please pass the salt."

Bathing

Bath or Shower

- You will probably share a bathroom with other members of your family.
- It is usual to leave the bathroom door open when it is not in use.
- Most American bathrooms have the toilet, sink, and shower or bath tub in one room.
- American bathrooms do not have drains in the floor. Water can only be drained from the sink or bath tub.
- Often the shower is inside the bath tub with a curtain or door to keep the water from spraying outside the bathtub area.
- After using the bath, shower, or sink it is polite to wipe up any water you have spilled.
- Dirty or wet towels may be hung to dry or put in a laundry basket (ask your family).
- If there is one tap, the temperature can be adjusted by turning the tap left or right. Turning left will usually make the water hot. Turning right will usually make the water cold.
- To adjust water temperature there may be two taps. The left tap is usually hot – it will have the letter H or a red colored marking. The right tap is usually cold – it will have the letter C or a blue colored marking.
- Most Americans shower in the morning and wash their hair in the shower.
- If you prefer to bathe in the evening, try to take your shower or bath before 9:30 p.m.
- The hot water systems in America use a boiler. If you take a very long shower, there may not be enough hot water for the next person.
- Try to limit your shower time to 20 minutes.

Shower

1. Step into the bathtub and pull the curtain or door closed. (It is important to close it completely to keep the water inside the bath area).
2. Be sure the curtain is inside the bathtub.
3. Turn the hot and cold taps in the bathtub until you have a good temperature.
4. Pull or turn the knob to make the water to flow from above.
5. When you turn the water off, remember to reverse the water flow back into the bathtub.

Toilet

1. Used toilet paper should be put in the toilet.
2. Do not put any other garbage down the toilet.
3. As a courtesy, men should put the seat down after use.
4. If the toilet is dirty from your use, clean it with the toilet brush before leaving the bathroom.

Kitchen

- Your host family may have appliances you do not know how to use. Ask for instructions if you do not know how to use them.
- Try to observe where things are stored in the kitchen and replace items where you found them.

Garbage and Recycling

- Most American families recycle paper, glass, and metal products.
- Ask your hosts their procedure for recycling.
- Some families may also compost organic waste for their garden.
- Ask your family if they compost and how to proceed.

Privacy

- Americans value privacy.
- Normally, if a person wishes to be alone they will go to their room and close the door. (However, if this is done too often, others may think the person is not interested in the family).
- If you want privacy or quiet, it is acceptable to close your door.
- If family members wish to enter your room, they should knock.
- If children want your attention, you can tell them you need to study and close the door.

Pets

- Many Americans have pets that live inside the house.
- This may include dogs, cats, birds, or other animals.
- Americans treat pets as a part of the family and pets are free to enter all rooms.
- If you do not want animals in your room, it is acceptable to close your door and explain to your hosts that you are uncomfortable having the pet in your room.
- Ask your family about rules regarding pets. For example, some families do not like their cats to go outside or only let their dogs outside if a family member is present.

Phone Calls

- If you are making a long distance call, please try to use your cell phone.
- If you do not have a cell phone, ask your host family to help you.
- Host families are encouraged not to engage in contracts for cell phones of International students.

 Skype or international calling cards are the recommended method for making long distance calls. The standard rate is $21 for 1100 minutes.

Going Out with Your Family

You may be invited to join your family for an activity, outing, restaurant meal, or even a vacation. It is a good idea to discuss financial expenses with your family before accepting the invitation. Some families will have the ability to pay for you, but others may not be able to pay extra.

- If your host family pays for your activities, you should thank them.
- You might also want to consider making a special meal for them.

Restaurants

- If your family invites you to a restaurant as part of the normal meal schedule, they should pay for your meal.
- If you are expected to pay, and you chose not to join them, they should provide you with a meal to have at home.
- If you are unsure, it is OK to ask your family about who will pay.
- If traveling, you may want to have your own money for restaurants.

Activities / Outings

- Your host family will probably want to take you out to experience American lifestyle.
- If you are invited to join an activity, be sure to ask your family what you should bring and if you will need money.
- If your host family says that you should pay, and you don't want to spend the money, it is ok to say, "No thank you" and stay home.
- If you are not interested or have different plans, tell your family. For example: "Thank you for the invitation, but I have to study for my exam."

Vacations

- Your host family may go away on vacation during your stay.
- If your family will be away for more than a couple of days, you should tell your Homestay Coordinator.
- If your host family invites you to join the vacation, you should talk to them about how much it will cost (Ask about accommodation, transportation, meals, etc.)
- If you choose not to join the vacation, contact your Homestay Coordinator so accommodations can be made for you while your host family is away.
- You will not be allowed to stay in your host home alone while your host family is on vacation.

American Culture

SOME POSSIBLE DIFFERENCES

American culture will probably be different than your own culture. The differences may be large or small. Some differences may bother you, others will not. It is important to remember that the cultural differences you experience are all part of your learning adventure. Try to be patient, open-minded, and most of all to keep your sense of humor.

Individualism

- Americans value individualism.
- Most Americans are independent and may not depend on their family in the same way as people in your culture do.
- Individuals are expected to make their own decisions.
- Individuals are responsible for themselves.
- American children are taught to think critically, make individual choices, and be independent.

Equality

- Americans value equality.
- They consider all individuals in society as equal with equal rights and opportunities.
- Women and men are equal in American culture.
- Status is not determined by sex, age, race or social rank.
- Equal respect is shown to all individuals.

Children and Seniors

Because Americans value independence and equality they may have different attitudes than your culture toward the treatment of children or seniors.

- Children often speak directly about their opinions or preferences.
- Even young children are permitted to express disagreement with their parents.
- Seniors often live alone and are independent.

Time

- Americans value punctuality.
- It is considered disrespectful to be late.
- If you are going to be late for an appointment, it is a good idea to telephone and say you will be late.
- Because Americans like to be on time and value schedules, they may seem to be very busy.

Culture Shock

Most people that live, study, or work in another culture experience culture shock. Culture shock is normal and will stop after some time. It is caused by experiencing many cultural differences which can make you tired. Some people become angry, but others become depressed. Some possible symptoms include:

- Stress
- Disorientation
- Anxiety
- Homesickness
- Weight gain or loss
- Difficulty sleeping
- Loss of energy
- Confusion
- Difficulty focusing on studies

Culture Shock Cycle

Honeymoon Phase: When you first arrive you are curious and everything is exciting.

Hostility/Depression Phase: Confusion about the new culture can make you feel sad or angry, "I hate this place. I want to go home."

Recovery/Humour Phase: You feel better and can laugh at your mistakes, "I did the silliest thing yesterday."

Second Crash: Some people experience another "down" in the cycle because they were feeling confident in the new culture and suddenly feel uncomfortable again.

Comfort Phase: You begin to feel totally comfortable in the new culture. "This place feels like home."

Excitement and Anxiety: Before you return home, you may experience excitement and anxiety about the return, exams, and goodbyes.

Re-Entry Shock: Often when people return home, they experience discomfort because they have changed, "Nobody understands" is a common feeling.

Re-adjustment Phase: You begin to feel normal again.

Culture Shock and your Host Family Relationships

- Your experience of culture shock may affect the way you feel about your host family or your new home.
- If culture shock affects your mood or behavior, it is important to talk to your host family so that they will understand how you feel.
- Your behavior during the low phases of culture shock may also confuse your family.
- Because the experience of culture shock can be emotional, often words or actions can be misunderstood.
- All new relationships take time and patience.
- Living with a new family and the experience of culture shock can be difficult, but it will pass.

What You Can Do About Culture Shock

- Talk to your host family. Explain how you feel and what is difficult for you.
- Talk to your Homestay Coordinator.
- Talk to your friends or other international students about their experience.
- Practice speaking English as much as possible; language use is very important to understand culture.
- Try to use humor. Laugh at your mistakes.
- Remember there is no right or wrong in culture, only differences.
- Be curious. Remember, this is an adventure.
- Get involved. Join a club or a team. Try to stay busy and make friends.
- Remember to eat and sleep.
- Get some exercise.

HINT: CULTURE SHOCK

- Remember that culture shock is normal and natural.
- Remember that it will not last.
- Talking to people will help.
- Take care of yourself.

Intercultural Communication

Different cultures have different styles of communication and communication behaviors.

- Sometimes this can be confusing and cause misunderstandings.
- Do not assume that what is normal for you is normal for others.
- Others may understand your words or gestures differently than you want them to.

Direct and Indirect Communication

Indirect

1. Suggest / Imply
2. Avoid confrontation
3. Goal is to preserve the relationship
4. Non-verbal signals important

Direct

1. Say what it means
2. Say the truth even if it is difficult
3. Goal is to exchange information
4. Spoken word carries meaning

- Americans often communicate directly.
- They will say what they mean and can be very direct.
- They will appreciate your directness.
- Americans don't use as many non-verbal signals as some cultures.

EXAMPLE A student is cold and tries to express this to her host family by rubbing her arms and wearing sweaters. Her host family does not understand that she is cold until she says directly, "I am cold."

Keep in mind, physical behaviors that mean something in your culture, may not have the same meaning for Americans.

Emotional and Neutral Expressions

- In some cultures people are emotional when they communicate. They use a lot of facial expressions or arm and hand movements to express their ideas and feelings.
- In other cultures people do not show any emotion or move their bodies.
- It is important to remember that these behaviors are often cultural and not to understand them as aggressive, angry or disinterested.

EXAMPLE The host family always asks the student if he is OK, or if there is something wrong. He doesn't know why they think something is wrong, he is very happy. When he talks to them about it, they explain that they are worried because he does not smile as often as they do.

Eye Contact

- Americans usually expect people to look at them when they are talking.
- If you do not look at someone when they are talking, they may think you are not listening or do not care about what they say.
- If you are interested, it is important to keep eye contact.

EXAMPLE

At first, the host mother talked to the student often. After a few weeks she didn't talk as much. The student didn't understand until she heard her host mother telling a friend, "Maybe she isn't interested in what I say, or maybe she doesn't understand, but she never looks at me when I am talking."

Communication across Cultures

Misunderstandings can occur when people from different cultures are communicating. This can happen because of:

- Cultural differences
- Language difficulties
- Different meanings for gestures
- Physical behaviors

It is important to ask questions to be certain you have understood.

It is OK to ask people to repeat their words, say them differently or more slowly.

EXAMPLE You can say,

"Could you please repeat what you said a different way?"

"I understood _____. Is that correct?"

"I don't understand _____. Could you please explain?"

Honesty

Being honest is very important in American culture. Students do not need to find a "seemingly reasonable" excuse to cover the truth. It is more effective to tell the truth.

The Pause: Speech Patterns

- Different cultures have different patterns of speaking.
- In some cultures there is a space or pause between speakers.
- In other cultures people speak almost at the same time.
- Americans sometimes feel uncomfortable when there is silence between speakers.
- Sometimes they may think you need help and will try to speak for you.

HINT Conversation

■ If you feel that your American friends are not giving you enough time to think or seem to speak for you, it is OK to say, "I am thinking." Or "One moment please."

■ Then they will usually wait patiently for you to speak.

MISUNDERSTANDINGS and Problems

Life with a family can have wonderful moments and difficult moments. All families have misunderstandings and problems. Most problems can be solved by talking about them with the family. Types of problems

- Many problems are because of different expectations or needs.
- Often problems are because of communication problems.
- Misunderstanding behavior or words can lead to problems.
- The host family or the student may experience a change that causes changes to the household.

In all of these situations, if hosts and students talked about their needs and expectations, the situation would improve. It is important to talk about problems before they become bigger problems. American host families expect and want students to talk to them about problems.

- Before you can change your homestay, you must consult with your Homestay Coordinator.
- Sometimes people are not a good match and a different situation may be better.
- Your Homestay Coordinator will find a homestay where you will be happy.
- If the need arises to make a move to a different host home, please allow sufficient time for the change to take place. This may sometimes take several weeks.

If anyone has attempted to inappropriately touch or speak with you, you must contact your Homestay Coordinator or the Twinn Palms office immediately.

Likewise, it is never appropriate for you to initiate any sexual contact with any member of your host family.

Safety Precautions

Twinn Palms encourages you to be open-minded and meet new people you are in the U.S. However, in doing so we also encourage you to exercise caution and be aware of interactions that could make you feel uncomfortable or lead to a potentially dangerous situation. Be sure to report any activity that seems inappropriate to your Homestay Coordinator and the Twinn Palms national office right away.

Below we have identified a few "red flags" that should be closely monitored and/or reported. While they are not each, in themselves, always indicators of a potentially dangerous relationship or situation, they should serve as reminders to be aware of what may or may not be appropriate. While making new friends is an important part of the international experience, we need to make sure that our students are forming relationships with peers that are healthy and positive.

■ Be aware of any adult or individual who seeks to spend a lot of one-on-one “alone” time with you outside of an appropriate context. For example, a neighbor who wants to take you student to the movies alone or an older “friend” you made at the gym who invites you to one-on-one activities without any other family or friends.

■ Texting & Social Media – You should always be reminded about the importance of knowing who you are texting and interacting with on social media websites. If you find that an adult or peer is contacting you excessively, or making comments that make you feel uncomfortable, contact your Homestay Coordinator or Twinn Palms right away.

■ Any adult who gives you lavish gifts, secret gifts, or gifts that are contingent upon an action from you (e.g. a neighbor or friend’s parent tells you that if you get good grades, you will receive a special gift).

■ Any adult who asks you to keep secrets or treats you like a confidant. It is not appropriate for adults to confide in teenagers as equals, nor is it appropriate for an adult to expect a teenager to keep a secret of any kind.

■ Flirtations and sexually explicit jokes are never acceptable between an adult and a minor.

■ Be aware of any adult who encourages you to break rules or engage in illegal or inappropriate behavior of any kind.

Additional Safety Tips:

■ Talk to your host family about your community before you go anywhere new or unfamiliar to ensure that it is a safe place/area.

■ Ask your host family to let you know if there are any parts of town to avoid when walking around during the day or night.

■ When going out, you should try to be with two or more people and avoid situations where you will be alone.

■ Make sure that if you go out, you are carrying or have access to a working cell phone. Always give your host family the names and numbers of your friends and friends’ parents before going out.

■ Always keep your host family’s phone number, Homestay Coordinator’s number, and Twinn Palms’s office and emergency numbers with you at all times.

■ Ask your host family to write down emergency service numbers if you are going to be staying home alone for any length of time.

■ If you are ever in a situation with friends or an adult that makes him/her feel uncomfortable for any reason, you should leave immediately and/or call you, your Homestay Coordinator, or a trusted adult right away.

■ Always trust your instincts—if something doesn’t feel right, let someone know!

Emergency

If you experience an emergency of any kind outside of business hours (9 a.m. – 5 p.m. EST), Twinn Palms will provide you with your Local Coordinator’s phone number and contact information so that you are never alone or not able to reach anyone.

You may also contact the service directly at 424-239-6367; an agent will take your message, and your call will be promptly returned by a Twinn Palms support staff member.

Our goal is to ensure that you and your host family enjoy a safe and rewarding year together; we encourage you to reach out if you have any concerns. We are here to help you!
